Sociological Congress Delegates Say Justice Demands Fair Play

Hampton.—W. T. B. Williams, field agent of the Slater board, in an address to the Hampton school, week ending May 17, outlined the proceedings of the recent Atlanta meeting of the Southern Sociological Congress, which was attended by 918 delegates, including 89 colored men and women. Conferences were held on public health, courts and prisons, child welfare, organized charities, race problems, church and social service.

Dr. Dillard, president of the Jeanes fund, in his speech said that the people of the South during the past five years have shown an unusual interest in colored people. Leading men and women have come to feel that justice calls for fair play and fair dealing and that righteousness demands good will on the part of both races.

Professor E. C. Branson, Athens, Ga., showed that the Negro is struggling for self mastery and that he is waging a winning battle in the country. The colored people of Georgia, for example, now own $34,000,000 worth of property. In one county there are 1,100 colored farm owners, and only twelve have mortgages on them. Another county in Georgia is without a single colored farm mortgage.

Professor W. N. Hunley, University of Virginia, pointed out in his paper that the economic basis of the Negro is sound, that the masses are surely improving and that the prosperity of the South depends on the improvement of the people.

Professor Josiah Morse, University of South Carolina, said that the differences among whites in their attitude toward the Negro are due chiefly to differences in culture. He said that fearless missionary workers are needed to teach white youth interest and sympathy for unlike people. He recommended the forming of social adjustment committees, consisting of white and colored representatives, for every community.

ANOTHER SPECIAL SESSION ASSURED UNLESS THE CURRENCY BILL IS EN- ACTED

President Says Democrats Must Emancipate Both Business and Money

Washington, June 23.—A fixed determination to have currency legislation passed at this session of Congress was accepted by the members of the House and Senate as President Wilson's text for the currency message, which he personally presented today to Congress assembled in joint session in the House chamber. Both Democrats and Republicans saw in the carefully worded appeal of the President an earnest conviction that the money situation must be dealt with before Congress adjourns. Preparations were made to begin committee work on the administration bill, which will soon be introduced in the House by Representative Carter Glass and in the Senate by Senator Owen.

From the rostrum of the House chamber the President in carefully modulated tones that carried his words to every corner of the chamber, read the brief message he had prepared. Crowded galleries, Cabinet officials, Senators and Representatives, Democrats and Republicans, sat in a tense silence, as the President, with forceful earnestness, told them:

"It plainly is clear that it is our duty to supply the new banking and currency system the country needs and that it will immediately need it more than ever.

"We must act now at whatever sacrifice to ourselves. It is a duty which the circumstances forbid us to postpone. I should be recreant to my deepest convictions of public obligation, did I not impress it upon you with solemn and urgent insistence."

The President defied the custom of 100 years for the second time by delivering the message in person.

A joint committee, led by Majority Leader Underwood and Senator Kern, met the President and escorted him to the clerk's desk on the rostrum. Mr. Wilson apparently was less nervous than when he first faced the big assemblage of legislators to deliver his tariff address. As he spoke, the gathering sat in attentive silence, marking carefully the points which the President's diction and intonation forced on their attention. When he had concluded there was a burst of applause and he bowed his way out after shaking hands with Vice-President Marshall and Speaker Clark.

Mr. Elmer E. Barr, son of Mrs. Katherine E. and the late Dr. E. E. Barr, graduated this week from the Manual Arts High School. In a class of 118 Elmer was the only colored boy. He will enter Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute next term.

RECEPTION TO REV. HAWES

The membership of Westminster Presbyterian Church tendered Rev. Hamilton B. Hawes, their new minister, a public reception Tuesday evening, the 24th. The church, which was tastefully decorated, was packed to the doors with an audience composed of members and friends. The program was opened with invocation by Rev. Byers, of the Zion A.M.E. Church. Mrs. Oliver, who presided, introduced Mr. F. B. Alexander, who delivered a welcome address in behalf of the church. Mr. Alexander is not only a prominent working member of the Westminster Church, but is a local leader who is well known and popular throughout the city. His address was appropriate and well received. Rev. Kenchen, of Wesley M. E. Church, spoke entertainingly for the ministers of the city. The other speakers were: Rev. J. L. McCoy, who gave reminiscences of his first attempts at preaching, which created considerable amusement; Secretary T. A. Greene, of the Y. M. C. A.; Attys. Barnett and Ceruti, and Dr. Gordon. Rev. Hawes responded in a brief but interesting address. Rev. Hawes is a graduate of Lincoln University and is a young man, well equipped for his chosen profession. He will, in all probability, prove a valuable acquisition to the local ministry.

Moral Courage.

The press was represented by the editor of this journal, who called attention to the necessity of co-operation between the pulpit and press. After telling the ministers that the lines had fallen to them in pleasant places, in view of the fact that God had chosen them to lead not a dying, but a growing, youthful, vigorous race. He emphasized the fact that the problems confronting the Negroes of this country would have to be solved by the Negroes under the leadership of a powerful, independent press, backed by a pulpit that is not wanting in moral courage. He called their attention especially to the lack of moral courage, so prevalent in this day of commercialism. He told them that the Negro press, where it sought to be independent, was frequently severely handicapped by a lack of moral courage in the pulpits. That where moral courage was lacking there could be no such a thing as successful leadership. That when principles were involved there could be no dodging or compromising, and that the principle of honesty must be instilled in the young men and women of the race or the moral decay now afflicting the white race would also drag down the Negro race in spite of its youth and vigor.

Father Cleghorn's address, although short, was the ablest of the evening. Striking from the shoulder as he always does, he told the ministers that they would have to take a hand in the solution of every problem confronting the race; that they could not afford to be idle or disinterested while the race was denied a single privilege enjoyed by other people. He gave them to understand that leadership implied the manhood and ability to meet and surmount obstacles.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTERESTALUMNI RECEPTION

The Southern California Alumni Association will tender their fifth annual reception to the graduates of 1913 at Wesley M. E. Church, 8th and San Julian streets, Monday evening, July 2nd. Program commences at 8:00 o'clock p. m. All are cordially invited.

MRS. DR. T. J. NELSON, Pres.,
HAROLD PRINCE, Secretary.

THE STATEMENT FALSE

The current report that Mr. M. T. Laws had charge of the Masonic excursion, which left this city for Oakland on May 31st, is false. He had absolutely nothing to do with that affair and will have nothing to do with the Woman's Federation excursion, which will leave here for Oakland on July 26th. All statements to the contrary are false.

SPECIAL SERMONS

At Wesley Chapel, Sunday, 11 a. m., E. W. Kinchen, pastor, will preach a special sermon to the young school pupils, and comment on the womanhood of the race.

At 8:00 p. m. E. W. Kinchen, pastor, will preach, by special request, "Death in the Pot, or Hidden Snares." He will speak plainly from conferences he has had with officers of the law and others as to the conduct of our young people.

HAS J.W. COLEMAN A CHANCE?

The friends of Mr. J. W. Coleman are confident of electing him president of the Forum next Sunday. But the man who owns the concern has passed the word down the line that Cap. Crumbly must be re-elected. If the policy of doing nothing and standing for less is to be continued, then Cap. is the right man. If, however, that organization decides to do something worthy of existence. J. W. Coleman will be elected. He is a successful business man and an all-around good citizen. His election would do honor to the organization. Mr. Coleman is the only candidate thus far who has come out for the place.

The wedding of Mr. Sydney P. Dones and Miss Bessie Williams, which took place at the A. M. E. Church on the 18th, was one of the most brilliant of the season. It was attended by an audience that completely packed the church. The happy couple have the best wishes of this journal.

NOT THE MAN FOR POLICE JUDGE

It is claimed by Mr. Holley's friends that he has the endorsement of six city councilmen for the position of Police Judge. That said six will bring pressure to bear upon the Board of Supervisors sufficient to secure his appointment. We have not the slightest idea that the supervisors will make any such a blunder as Holley's appointment would be.

A man who hates Negroes so badly that he doesn't want respectable ones to rent offices in the same building in which he rents would be a dangerous man to sit in judgment when a Negro's interest is involved. What chances would a Negro have of getting justice in his court? What chance would any poor man have of getting a square deal in his court when pitted against the rich?

Read his petition, which follows.

Los Angeles, Cal.,
Sept. 25, 1912.

Mr. Charles H. McFarland,
Lessee of Copp Bldg.,
City.

Dear Sir:

We, the undersigned tenants in the Copp Building, do hereby most vigorously protest against your leasing any offices in the Copp Building to colored tenants, and request that you refuse to lease further offices to people of color, and that you move from the building those now occupying offices therein. Our grounds for this protest are that offices in the building are undesirable for the undersigned so long as colored tenants are allowed tenancy therein.

(Among other names appended to the above petition is that of)
J. B. HOLLEY.

We again urge our subscribers, who are indebted to the paper, to send amounts due without delay. A prompt response from all of our friends will greatly aid the paper in the work it is doing.

LANE CUTS COST TO U. S. SETTLERS

Washington, June 24.—Secretary of the Interior Lane has issued a ruling to protect and reduce cost to settlers on irrigable land who are actually farming. His order reduces the final building installments one-third. This reduction applies only to those who shall, on December 1, have paid up all the amounts due for operation and maintenance. This will shut out those who are simply holding land for speculation.

THE NEGRO PULPIT AND NEGRO ENTERPRISES

Speaking of moral courage in the Negro pulpit, it is wanting to a greater extent than surface indications would warrant. This does not imply that our ministers are not good men for the contrary is true. But there is a want of strength somewhere, the absence of which afflicts our local race enterprises with a deadly mildew.

To say nothing of a number of well-attended small churches, we have seven large churches whose combined value is something like $200,000; and a membership aggregating something like 3000, which makes it safe to say that these seven churches are attended at least once a week by nearly 10,000 people. And yet there is not a well-patronized Negro business establishment in the city—we mean that there is no Negro business establishment aside from barber shops that would exist if the proprietors had to depend wholly upon Negro patronage. This too, in the face of the fact that we have here a well-housed, well-fed and well-dressed population of 30,000 in this city. In view of the fact that the great body of these people attend church and the ministers have their ear, their backwardness in supporting race enterprises presents a strange problem. Why can't the ministers, who can secure from these people $200,000 to build churches, induce the same people to patronize business enterprises run by members of the race, and thereby create positions for the employment of their sons and daughters. That influence that can draw $200,000 from the pockets of a people to build churches ought to be able to induce those same people to establish enterprises that would give them independent employment.

We have here a population sufficient and with ample means to own and operate a department store, a big grocery company, a shoe store and a big drug store, to say nothing of other smaller establishments that would furnish employment to scores of our young people. We have one drug store, the Cummings, on East 9th St., the Prentiss Dry Goods Store also on East 9th St., and the Thomas Ladies Tailoring on East 7th St., all splendid establishments that do depend almost wholly upon other people for existence.

It seems to us that if the influence of our ministers was thrown to these establishments that scores of our young people would be needed to conduct their business. That this is not the case we believe is largely due to the want of moral courage on the part of our ministers to properly instruct their congregations by word and example.

The same is true with regard to Negro newspapers, that is, the Negro newspaper man that has the courage of his convictions and stands unswervingly for principle does not get the support from the pulpit that he deserves. This may be due to the fact that there may be a difference of opinion on public questions, and that the colored minister has not the moral courage to support a Negro paper no matter how deserving, if there is a difference of opinion between himself and the editor. They will, however, pay for and read a white newspaper no matter how bitter that paper is against Negroes. If the Negro minister is to come into his own, and serve the people as God would have him, he will have to give aid and comfort to the Negro newspaper that looks wholly after the interests of the race, whether he personally differs with the editor or not. The future battles of the race will be fought out mainly by the independent Negro papers that put the interest of the race above getting money.

The Negro business man is not altogether blameless for present conditions. He must learn to give the same for they money that other people give—that is in weight, measure, cleanliness, politeness and respectful attention to the wants of his customers. His place of business should be clean, well lighted, and his goods should be protected from flies and dust. The proper arrangement of merchandise so as to make everything look its best is an art that the Negro business-man can not overlook. It is one that should be carefully studied with a view to keeping apace with competitors.

The idea, now too prevalent with some of our business people that "anything, or any sort of treatment, is good enough for Negroes," will have to be stamped out as untrue, or business failure is certain.

Not long ago we called at a restaurant for a lunch; we found a dingy, unpainted front, the interior poorly lighted, with little or no ventilation, and everything looked as if it kept itself. The only up-to-date thing in the establishment was the price of the meals, which was actually higher than those at a well-kept up-to-date restaurant just around the corner.
Although hundreds of people took meals there, only one drinking glass was provided for the patrons
—this fact in itself being a violation of the law. About the only claim this proprietor has to Negro patronage is that he is a Negro.
While the cost of running such an establishment, as it should be run, would be no greater, the increase in the profits of the place would be a hundredfold.
